

GALLERY

November 17, 2010

CORE agent Tom Postilio threw a Customer Appreciation party at Feinstein's at Loews Regency. The eponymous nightclub of five-time Grammy nominee and multi-platinum recording artist, Michael Feinstein, was filled to the rafters bold-faced guests. Crooner-turned-HGTV star Postilio performed a tribute to Frank Sinatra and a cavalcade of guest performances included CORE's founder and CEO, Shaun Osher with his saxophone, jazz star Hilary Kole, Mickey Conlon and Cabaret Czar Michael Feinstein. The preeminent torchbearer of the Great American Songbook delighted the audience with a rendition of Irving Berlin's "I Love A Piano". Revelers included interior designer Mario Buatta, Broadway chanteuse and socialite Yanna Avis, fashion illustrator Robert W. Richards, scions of the Cayre family, and developers Charles Blaichman, Elliott Joseph, Robert Manocherian, and Bella Sekons. Pictured above, Postilio performs with Michael Feinstein and left, the broker with singer Hilary Kole.

Above, illustrator Robert W. Richards with French actress Yanna Avis.

Left, Tom Postilio and CORE CEO Shaun Osher relive the glory days for their appreciative audience.