What $3,000 rents in Manhattan right now

See what $3,000 gets you in neighborhoods like Yorkville, Chelsea, and Washington Heights

Welcome to Curbed Comparisons, a weekly column that explores what one can rent for a set dollar amount in various NYC neighborhoods. Is one man's studio another man's townhouse? Let's find out! Today, we're looking at apartments in Manhattan renting around $3,000/month.

↑ If you can get past the loft bed, this studio apartment in Midtown (on Madison Avenue, just a few blocks from the Empire State Building) has some nice things going for it—namely, the fact that it's got brand new everything. It gets plenty of light thanks to oversized windows, and the loft—while narrow—also has a lot of storage space. It's going for $3,000/month.
