Expansive Jackson Heights co-op with sleek finishes throughout asks $428K

This 950 square foot is located on the third floor of a six-story building

Welcome back to The Six-Digit Club, in which we take a look at a newish-to-market listing priced under $1 million, because nice things sometimes come in small packages. Send nominations to the tipline.

Measuring 950 square feet, this co-op is located on the third floor of a six-story building in Jackson Heights, Queens. The apartment features one bedroom and one bathroom, and was recently renovated.

Part of that renovation included notable improvements to the kitchen and the bathroom. The former now comes fitted with stainless steel appliances, a dishwasher, and a custom backsplash—the window is an added bonus as well. The latter is done up with ceramic tile, and has a standing shower.

The master bedroom here overlooks the co-op development's common garden, and has two closets. There are two additional closets in the apartment as well.

Aside from that, some of the standout features in this home include the hardwood floors, the eastern and western exposures, and the large living room. Residents in the building also have access to bike storage and laundry. For all of that, this place is asking $428,500 with monthly maintenance charges of $824.
