5 NYC dining rooms tailor-made for holiday entertaining

With several dining spaces—including one in the garden-level eat-in kitchen and this one, on the parlor floor—there's space aplenty in this five bedroom, three-and-a-half bathroom townhouse at 74 Bank Street (yours for $26.5 million) to host all your holiday fetes and feasts.

Let's talk turkey. And trimmings. And where you're going to seat all the mishpocheh who are about to descend on you this holiday season. This being New York City, two things are certain: There will be visitors—and there will be a lack of space. But fret not! A successful Thanksgiving does not depend on the size of your dining room (or even kitchen). That said, if you should find yourself in the market for a larger space, here are a few places with dining rooms big enough to accommodate all your nearest and dearest.
