

June 5, 2013

Who's Who: Keren Ringler

Keren Ringler has joined the ranks of CORE after a career in the field of medical science. Ringler spent 13 years at Sloan Kettering in Manhattan, where her research was clinically applied in the development of new therapeutic drugs. She holds a graduate degree in Chemistry, a Masters in Medical Science and she has finished three years of her PhD in Medical Science, specializing in Molecular Genetics. Originally from South Africa, Ringler's background and experience enable her to interact with people of diverse cultures and effectively service domestic and international clientele.