Co-op of the Day: 155 Henry Street, #2GH

This second-floor apartment at 155 Henry Street in Brooklyn Heights recently came on the market with an asking price of $1,750,000. There are two full-sized bedrooms and a third smaller one off the dining room that would really work better as a study. Someone clearly spent some dough renovating this place. Personally we wish they'd kept more of a prewar feel but it's certainly a very attractive pad.
