

CELEBUZZ!

April 23, 2013

One a Celebrity-Designed Home for Only $699K Nate Berkus is listing his full-renovated New York City apartment

Find yourself spending too much time wandering the Nate Berkus home decor aisle at Target? Well, wait until you see his decorated home.

The celebrity designer has opened the doors to his 3,000 square foot New York City apartment, putting the uber chic pad up on the real estate market for a cool $699,000.

The one bedroom and one bathroom home has been featured in O at Home magazine -- that means it has Oprah Winfrey's seal of approval, if you're wondering -- and offers stunning views of the city's trendy West Village neighborhood.

Berkus' abode also features a renovated kitchen with new appliances, a new bath with Carrera marble floors and vintage hardware, custom wire-glass doors, custom closets and painted wood flooring throughout the place.

Given that the recently-engaged star also listed his Chicago full-floor condo for \$2.65 million this January, it certainly looks like he's ready to ditch his bachelor pads for a cozy little marital home.

It's been reported that Berkus, 41, and partner Jeremiah Brent purchased a house in Hollywood Hills, Calif., late 2012.