

Meditate at the Chelsea Mercantile for 7.9 Million

Tuesday, July 6, 2010, by Sara

Whoever eventually buys designer Christopher Hyland's wacky $22 million pad downstairs might also want to consider this Chelsea Mercantile penthouse as a Zen retreat for whenever the Greek friezes and Renaissance arches get to be too much. And it would only be $7.9 million extra! The place includes a meditation room and a rooftop terrace with a private gym and outdoor shower, with views that are an invitation to waste water.
