14 Gorgeous New York City Homes That Went On the Market in 2015

In between the mansions and luxury condos and teeny-tiny apartments that hit the market in New York City in 2015, there were plenty of places that stood out simply because we thought they were stunning. Check out 14 of our favorites below—they run the gamut from a detached Victorian in Ditmas Park to an Upper East Side megamansion to a huge penthouse in a domed Nolita building.

↑ Celebrity interior designer Nate Berkus listed his three-bedroom Greenwich Village duplex for $10.5 million, which is noteworthy because it's a whopping $4.5 million more than he paid for it in 2013. Some of its stellar features include windowed walk-in closets, three wood-burning fireplaces, and a double-doored terrace. It's still up for grabs.
