A Murray Hill Loft Studio for the Fan of Pullman Car Sleeping

Welcome back to The Six Digit Club, in which we take a look at a newish-to-market listing priced under $1 million, because nice things sometimes come in small packages. Have a nomination? Send it to the tipline.

Price: $429,000

Address: 34 East 38th Street, #4B

Size: 2.5 rooms/1BA

Maintenance: $406 a month

This Murray Hill studio/loft co-op has a unique sleeping area that will come as a pleasant surprise to fans of overnight train travel: it's a sleep nook tucked above the walk-in closets. There's not a straight-on shot of this feature, but we can tell that one has to ascend a wooden ladder to get to bed and that headroom once inside does not favor much animated tossing and turning. There is enough room up there to fit a full-size mattress though. The rest of the newly renovated studio looks beautiful, with a functioning wood burning fireplace and sound-proofed hardwood floors. With amenities like a finished roof deck, laundry, and bike room for monthly maintenance of only $406 a month, this apartment just off Fifth Avenue seems like a relative bargain. It's currently renting for $2,900 a month.
