

NEW YORK NEWS & FEATURES

Walk-Through: Loftlike Space on Patrician Fifth Avenue

1/27/11 at 2:15 PM

It's not often that you get a huge, open, and modern-feeling space overlooking Central Park on Fifth Avenue, but the owners of this two-bedroom at 812 Fifth altered their apartment to feel as up-to-date as possible. Blasting out the third bedroom so that they could expand the kitchen and living space, the rooms are sleek, with hidden appliances and doorways nestled into dark wood finishings. The bathrooms are modern (to the point of eerie) and one even features white gold tiling. Every room has access to outdoor space, which, at 2,000 square feet, nearly matches the size of the interior space. Watch our walk-through video to find out just how much this kind of property will set you (or, let's be honest, some Russian) back.

By: Chris Rovzar, S. Jhoanna Robledo, Evan Kleinman, and Beth Stebner