CORE Does it Miles Better

One Museum Mile, the new residential condominium located at 1280 Fifth Avenue on Central Park in Manhattan, is now 100 percent closed or in contract, announced CORE, the exclusive sales and marketing firm for the building.

“We are very pleased with the success of One Museum Mile,” stated Tom Postilio, CORE’s director of sales for One Museum Mile. “Buyers have recognized the building’s overall value and exceptional quality of the amenities, design and finishes, as well as its prestigious Fifth Avenue location with sweeping Central Park vistas.”

The 115 residential interiors at One Museum Mile were created by Andre Kikoski, who also designed the award-winning restaurant The Wright at the Guggenheim.

Robert A.M. Stern Architects, LLP, served as design architect for the building. SLCE Architects served as architect-of-record.

Manhattan-based real estate private equity firm Brickman is the developer of One Museum Mile. Brickman is 100 percent owned by its principals Bruce Brickman and Kathleen Corton.
