Tim Crowley: Director of New Development, CORE

Tim Crowley is Director of New Development with CORE, where he oversees project management, research and sales teams. From pre-development to sellout, his team provides developers with market expertise and strategic direction on design and sales to maximize investment of each project. In this role, he also manages the incoming new development pipeline for CORE.

Most recently, he was managing director at Flank and founder of Flank Brokerage, the former a design and development firm and the latter a full-service real estate brokerage platform employing a wide range of expertise to create a custom experience for buyers, sellers and developers of high-value real estate assets. In this and previous roles, he worked in on-site sales, marketing and project management for a number of notable new developments in New York City and Florida.

Having worked at several top brokerages in NYC in new residential development, Tim brings over 13 years of industry experience to CORE. He attended the University of South Carolina where he studied History and Real Estate Finance.
