15 Amazing NYC Apartments That Used To Be Something Else

What it used to be: Feuchtwanger Stables

What it is now: Loft condo at 159 Carlton Ave

Many of Fort Greene's historic stables were razed to make room for commercial and residential buildings, but this beauty lucked out. Nearly a century after its construction in 1888, this Romanesque Revival building underwent its initiation for gentrification and now serves as a one-bedroom apartment with absolutely zero hay in it.
