

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

December 19, 2011

House of the Day

Of the dozens of homes featured as New York's House of the Day in 2011, these ten were the most popular with Journal readers.

Two CORE properties are featured:

Cast Your Vote: New York's Favorite Homes

Of the dozens of homes featured as New York's House of the Day in 2011, these ten were the most popular with Journal readers. Which home was your favorite? Select your favorite at right.

◀ 1/10 ▶

Credit: CORE

A Living Room Pool

This Manhattan townhouse has an unusual amenity in the living room: an indoor pool. Listed for $10.995 million.

See more photos.

Watch video.

Vote for your favorite house:

- A Living Room Pool
- Chelsea Steampunk Loft
- A Pool Over Mystery Lake
- A Pool with Skyline Views
- Norwalk Cottage Gem
- A Very Personalized Loft
- Connecticut Escape
- One Home, Two Pools
- Carnegie Hill Co-Op
- Music Mogul's Former Estate

Cast Your Vote: New York's Favorite Homes

Of the dozens of homes featured as New York's House of the Day in 2011, these ten were the most popular with Journal readers. Which home was your favorite? Select your favorite at right.

◀ 2/10 ▶

Credit: Natalie Keyssar for The Wall Street Journal

Chelsea Steampunk Loft

This steampunk-styled co-op in Manhattan has a color-changing blimp that appears to float from the ceiling. Listed for $1.75 million.

See more photos.

Watch video.

Vote for your favorite house:

- A Living Room Pool
- Chelsea Steampunk Loft
- A Pool Over Mystery Lake
- A Pool with Skyline Views
- Norwalk Cottage Gem
- A Very Personalized Loft
- Connecticut Escape
- One Home, Two Pools
- Carnegie Hill Co-Op
- Music Mogul's Former Estate